

Presents

Freddie Steady' Wild Country—Lucky 7

By 1986, Freddie Steady Krc had already been playing British Invasion-rooted rock and roll all over Texas for years. It only made sense to him that he should turn the tables while living in London for most of that year and take his own special brand of Texas music all over Britain. The Texan with a rock and roll soul embraced his country roots with this classic album. Krc and his Explosives had headlined at plenty of punk clubs, but he also knew his way around a honky tonk, having logged thousands of miles as Jerry Jeff Walker's drummer. Much like Walker and Doug Sahm, Krc's brand of Texas country would leave modern-day Nashville record executives scratching their heads. It didn't adhere to any of that city's strict format of soulless structure, the very stuff that has likely kept Hank Williams in a rather constant coffin spin. Freddie Steady's country inspires the kind of spin that involves a hardwood floor. His own brand of high lonesome country soul incorporates the Tex Mix of his Austin home and the Cajun roots of his native Southeast Texas. All these musical categories are just pieces of the Freddie Steady puzzle. It's really just Texas country, roots country, good country. Wild country.

--Rush Evans
SteadyBoy Records

Wild Country Music, a lively soulful spicy mixture of honky-tonk country, Cajun, and rhythm & blues.

--San Antonio Express-News

"Freddie Krc is a true dedicated musician. He is one of the most knowledgeable and like musicians in the business. I consider him a friend and have the highest regard for his work."

—Jerry Jeff Walker

FREDDIE STEADY'S WILD COUNTRY LUCKY 7 (SB-0017)

Release date: Nov 11, 2003

Produced by Wes McGhee

- 1. Say You'll Go (Krc) 3:25
- 2. What I Got (Krc) 3:38
- 3. Night Time (Feldman, Gottehrer,

Goldstein) 3:49

- 4. Love You Tonight (Krc) 2:45
- 5. High Lonesome, Country Soul (Krc) 3:48
- 6. I Like Whiskey (Joe Dickens) 2:25
- 7. (I Hear) Neon Angels Sing (Krc) 4:44
- 8. You Can't Judge A Book (Willie Dixon)

3:13

- 9. I've Been Framed (Krc) 4:52
- 10. Ride Through Wild Country (Krc) 3:25
- 11. For A While (Krc) 2:50
- 12. Bar Room Balladeer (Krc) 3:13
- 13. Blue Blue Day (Don Gibson) 1:59
- 14. Loser's Gumbo (Krc) 3:21

steadyboyrecords.com

Press/Publicity:

rushkevans@yahoo.com

512.964.7874

Artist Contact: fkrc@mindspring.com

512.441.5619

Burnside Distribution

1522 N. Ainsworth St

Portland, OR 97217

503.231.0876

Wholesale $9.40

